

Digital Defamation in the Age of AI: Truth vs. Algorithms

2 CPD POINTS

Rapid rise of AI-generated content increases the risk of false statements spreading online. This gives rise to various legal problems and lawyers may face new challenges in advising and representing clients. This seminar will explore the legal issues with digital defamation in the age of AI within the existing defamation law framework such as identifying original content creator, liability for republication of AI generated defamatory content, adequacy of interim measures to curb spread of defamatory content, malice versus automation, preserving digital evidence and tracing tools and discuss the potential red flags to watch out for. Lawyers, legal advisors, enforcement officers, academics and general public should attend to gain useful insights on this very current and relevant topic.
